

31st December 2024

Sunny

Today I thought about my new plan for the next year.

First, I want to show my parents my love and how much I care about them. I am going to help with the housework to give them a break. I'm going to vacuum the floor, take out the trash, wash the dishes, iron the clothes, and wipe the table and surfaces.

Second, I want to stay healthy. I'm going to go jogging every day, join some yoga classes, and take a walk from time to time.

Third, I want to please my parents. I'm going to give my parents a shoulder or a foot massage, spend time with them, bake with them, and make arts and crafts with them about five times a week.

Lastly, I'm going to impress my parents. I'm going to do English exercises, read English books, make notes of new words, and try to have conversations in English.

I love my parents very much. I'd do anything for them.

By Bob Ching Ki, Angelina P.4

